The Three Stages of Healing

Trauma Conversion and Resilience

Treatment of Trauma

Millions of individuals in North America experience the impact of trauma every year. Whether the trauma occurs in childhood, such as sexual assault, neglect, physical or emotional abuse, or later in life, proper identification and effective treatment are essential to establishing and/or restoring emotional and physical health of an individual and family. New breakthroughs on the neurobiology of trauma have greatly changed the treatment of those who have experienced trauma. The instructor will give a comprehensive look at the counseling process. Several treatment modalities will be utilized to increase clinical improvement of clients from diverse backgrounds and which modalities work best in each stage of the healing.

Based on her more-than-25-year career working with many aspects of all types of trauma, Ms. Bradley will tap into her extensive background as a child sexual abuse investigator, a clinical educator and a psychotherapist specializing in trauma and resilience. She will take participants from the point of initial patient contact and will provide tools and hands-on techniques necessary at each stage. Every participant will receive a comprehensive manual with client masters, handouts and access to online resources.

Course Director

MELISSA (MISSY) BRADLEY, M.S., NCC, B.C.E.T.S., F.A.A.E.T.S., is a nationally recognized educator, consultant and author. After more than 25 years of assessing and providing treatment for sexual trauma victims, she has worked as a child sexual abuse investigator and provided individual, group and family therapy in corporate and non-profit settings.

Ms. Bradley is the developer of "The Three Stages," "The Psychology of Resilience: A Multi-Modal Framework for Thriving Using the Heroic Journey," and "Counseling Those Who Serve: Working with Veterans, First Responders and Their Families," for which 60,000+ professionals have been trained, an EMDR-trained psychotherapist and a trainer for professionals in medical and mental health settings, universities, crisis lines, school systems and corporations. She also provides expert witness testimony in criminal and civil court.

As a Fellow, Diplomat and Board Certified Expert in Traumatic Stress by the prestigious Academy of Experts in Traumatic Stress, Ms. Bradley is a frequent guest on regional and national radio and television news programs speaking on many mental health issues. Several of the news series she has been interviewed for addressing the subject of rape, sexual abuse and stalking have won prestigious national and international media awards, among them, the Scripps Howard Award for Broadcast Excellence and the Edward R. Murrow Award.

Ms. Bradley is also an advocate for veterans across the country. She is a frequent keynote speaker and is on the clinical board of Not Alone (www.notalone.com)—a national veteran's resource. She has also spoken nationally about her personal experience with sexual trauma, her marriage to a combat veteran and will discuss important and subtle steps in the healing process. Ms. Bradley's additional professional affiliations include: American Counseling Association (ACA), National Board of Certified Counselors (NBCC), and Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing International Association (EMDRIA). For more information, visit her website at www.theomnibuscenter.com.

Course Hours

Registration begins at 7:30 a.m. The seminar begins at 8:00 a.m. and concludes at 3:30 p.m. Coffee/hot tea provided in a.m. One-hour break for lunch on your own. For late arrivals or early departures, please see amended certificate information under Continuing Education Credit.

Engrossing and inspiring, Melissa Bradley's presentation speaks to her dedicated work in the field of trauma. Her seminars are important for therapists and trauma survivors alike.
